A teach-in is similar to a general educational forum on any complicated issue, usually an issue involving current political affairs. The main difference between a teach-in and a seminar is the refusal to limit the discussion to a specific frame of time or a strict academic scope. Teach-ins are meant to be practical, participatory, and oriented toward action.

Nap in the early afternoon. The best time for a nap is between 12pm and 3pm, at which point your melatonin levels are highest and your energy level tends to be lowest. If you struggle with after-lunch drowsiness, grabbing a few minutes of nap can make you more productive and awake in the long-run, as opposed to gulping down an energy drink and trying to press on.

One of the most useful lifetime skills that you can share with your students is to promote good study habits. Many teachers have found that teaching one study skill each day (as part of the opening moments of class, as a transition activity, or as part of the close of class) is effective and not too time-consuming. In fact, you will save time if you teach your students how to study because you ...
